Mr Indranil Chakraborty, General Manager & Head of OSH read a paper at the 8th American Society for Safety Professionals (ASSP) India Chapter Conference on 'Achieving Sustainability through Innovation and Digitalisation in HSE' held recently.

Chakraborty's paper 'Last Minute Risk Assessment' elaborated the thyssenkrupp approach to this area at our construction sites across the country and abroad.

'Risk Assessment at every stage in a project is a must, and Last Minute Risk Assessment, serves to effectively close the Safety loop for all the preceding safety initiatives implemented...' Mr Indranil Chakraborty, speaking in the course of presenting his paper..

The virtual professional development conference was addressed by a number of leading safety professionals from a variety of professional bodies, institutes, corporate houses and consultants. Approximately 125 participants benefited from the papers which covered subjects such as Industry 4.0 and related manufacturing changes, OSH in organized and informal sectors, Digital platforms for Training and Health initiatives, and case studies of OSH in various segments, including those affected by the Corona pandemic and more.

Earlier the programme which held by the ASSP in conjunction with NITIE and ICOH Scientific Committee was inaugurated jointly by Prof Manoj Kumar Tewari (Director NITIE Mumbai) and Dr.R.K.Elangoan (Director General , DGFASLI Mumbai).
