Rationale behind the disposal of the Residential Real Estate group

ThyssenKrupp prospects

Focus on core business

- Clear continuation of active portfolio optimization toward an integrated technology Group.

Profitability

- Stable earnings* in the past for ThyssenKrupp Wohnimmobilien, but with high capital employed.
- Reallocation of funds to areas with greater profitability increases ROCE and EVA.

Capital market

- Significant reduction in net financial payables leads to an improvement in rating.

Residential real estate market prospects

Demographic development

- Long-term risk of falling income from rentals due to declining population development forecast in the Ruhr area.

Investor trend

- High level of interest from international funds in attractive investments in the German residential real estate sector.

Market offer

- However, risk of market saturation through planned sales of large residential real estate inventories (e.g. Viterra).

* FY 2003/04: Sales: €245 million, EBT: €85 million, employees: 372

ThyssenKrupp

Residential Real Estate: very fast and strictly confidential transaction process

* Large German real estate company

Residential Real Estate: double premium and comparatively high purchase price

Summary: more than 100 transactions in the past two years

Conclusion

- Two years ago ThyssenKrupp started a comprehensive program of portfolio optimizations to further focus the Group.
- Today, not only have almost all disposals on the defined list been executed (“Desinvest 33”), but also a significant number of further non-core businesses have been sold – including Residential Real Estate.
- In the future, M&A will be a typical function of the Group’s activities. Through selected acquisitions, ThyssenKrupp will strengthen its core business in pursuit of an increase in Group sales from €45 billion to €50 billion.
